● THE DEPARTMENT'S YEAR IN REVIEW

The 1972-73 academic year was one of substantial progress in the Department's program. We continued to grow--46 students in the graduate program and 65 undergraduates. Competition for participation in the program reached unprecedented levels; the 25 first-year graduate students were selected from 187 applicants, and it became necessary to turn down a sizable number of undergraduates desiring to transfer from other departments on the campus. This led to increasing concern, on the part of the faculty, as to the "optimal" number of students capable of being accommodated with our present resources. While the issue remains under discussion, there is general agreement that the Department must experience modest growth in the years ahead--though not so much, hopefully, as to endanger the many benefits which derive from our remaining relatively small.

Our first year of experience with an extensively revised master's curriculum was, on the whole, successful. A number of new courses have been introduced, and the range of choices available to each student--in electives, areas of concentration, etc.-- have been substantially increased. The Department's training in the methods of quantitative analysis has been beefed up considerably, and course work in the techniques of graphic communication--"ridden out on a rail" a few years ago--has been re-introduced on an elective basis. Cooperative relationships with other departments and research units on the campus continue to proliferate.

With significant progress in the M.U.P. program having been made, attention is now being turned to a careful analysis--and, eventually, a major overhaul--of the undergraduate program as well. The aim is to provide it with its own rationale, identity, and set of objectives, rather than having it continue as a sort of "junior-grade master's program."

An interdisciplinary doctoral program in Public Policy and Planning is also on the drawing board, but is probably three years or so away from becoming operational. The levels of approval required for a new program of this kind are seemingly endless.

The Department enjoyed a highly successful recruiting year; two new faculty members will arrive for the fall 1973 semester. Adepoju Onibokun, a native of Nigeria, spent the last two years on the planning faculty at the University of Washington. Ade holds a master's degree and Ph.D. in planning from the University of Waterloo, and will be teaching in the areas of quantitative methods, planning research techniques, community development, and housing. Andrew Isserman, an urban economist, is close to completion of his work toward a doctorate in City and Regional Planning from the University of Pennsylvania, and spent the past year teaching at Penn State. Andy will offer courses in urban and regional economics, local public finance, and the methodology of urban and regional analysis.

Sue-Ellen Jacobs, a Visiting Associate Professor in the Department for the past two years, will be with us again and will continue to involve students in social planning work based in Champaign-Urbana's black community. We are also hopeful that Ernest Weissmann, long the United Nations' leading expert on housing and metropolitan development, will be here for the fall semester as a George A. Miller Visiting Professor.

Gone in the fall will be Scott Keyes, away for a one-semester sabbatical; Carl Patton, who will take a two-year leave of absence to work on his own doctorate; and Bill Lienesch, who leaves the staff after a commendable one-year hitch in replacement of Lock Blair, who will return from sabbatical. Also returning after a two-year stay in Washington will be Bill Goodman.

Judy Corray, the Department's chief secretary for a number of years, departed in September for the Department of History and was replaced by Barbara Hartman, who does a fine job of supervising the Department's five-member (and first-rate) clerical staff. Alice Rodgers, our crack Chief Clerk, left the Department in March to accompany her husband to Florida, and was capably replaced by Violet Wilkey.

The Department continues to occupy four separate but proximate buildings at 909 and 1001 West Nevada, 807 South Lincoln, and 1202 West California. Administration of the Bureau of Urban and Regional Planning Research was combined with the Department's administration in 1971, and several research and service projects were carried out under the Bureau's aegis during the year.

Needless to say, we are not free of problems. The Department's continued development and growth is occurring in an era of considerable budgetary crunch; funds for expanded efforts are all but impossible to come by. Financial aid for students--and especially for minority students--has become so sparse as to verge on a condition of crisis. (Anyone want to give us a grant for this purpose?) Our activities are rapidly outstripping the space available to us, a problem for which the University can provide no solution--at least in the short run. All in all, however, the positive aspects of the Department's life are outweighing the negatives by a sizable margin!

Comments on any of the above are most welcome. We want your concern, your suggestions, your participation. Our alumni constitute a critical component of the Department community, and we would like to see that role increase in the years ahead. Keep in touch!

One final word. Two individuals toiled long and hard to produce this Newsletter. Yu-Li Sun, a first-year graduate student in the Department, designed the format and produced the graphics. Margie Lesniak, of the Department's clerical staff, was responsible for typing the finished product. I hope you will agree with me that their efforts merit a long round of applause.

● FACULTY NEWS

Lock Blair enjoyed (we hope!) a sabbatical year with the Environmental Protection Agency in Washington.

Mike Brooks served, during the 1972-73 year, on an even ten University-wide committees--about nine too many, he reports! Most challenging and time-consuming was his chairmanship of the committee which searched for, and found, a new director for the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts.

On the community front, Mike became a Director of the Champaign County Development Council, and served on the Champaign County Regional Planning Commission's Human Resources Task Force.

Professionally, Mike remained the chairman of AIP's Advocate Planners' National Advisory Committee, and assumed the chairmanship of a new AIP Social Welfare Planning Policy Task Force.

He also agreed to run for AIP's second vice presidency this fall--and respectfully asks that all University of Illinois alumni keep him in mind when casting their ballots!

Actually, Mike's wife Shirley might be a better bet; she was Campaign Coordinator for Hiram Paley, Urbana's first successful Democratic mayoral candidate since 1949. Since his installation on May 1, Shirley has been serving as Mayor Paley's Administrative Secretary.

Life in Champaign-Urbana was kept in proper perspective, Mike says, by means of paper-giving, consulting, and conference-attending trips to the Universities of Colorado, Kansas, and North Carolina; Georgia State and Ball State Universities; Cincinnati, Washington, Los Angeles, and Boston.

Clyde Forrest was recently appointed a full Professor in the Department, and has introduced several new courses dealing with various aspects of planning law.

Eric C. Freund reports: "From a family point of view, the most notable event that has occurred during the past year just has to be the marriage of my son, Adrian, to Marlene (nee Porter) of Urbana, and running this a close second, his graduation from the U. of I. a week earlier. This latter is of more than usual significance, for Adrian graduated, of all places, from the Department of Urban & Regional Planning. I am frequently told that I should be most happy that my son has chosen to be a planner - but I still marvel that we survived so many years together in the same department (and occasionally in the same classroom) without serious injury to our natural friendship! Adrian, by the way, is now in charge of Water Quality Planning with the Rock Valley Metropolitan Council in Rockford, Illinois.

Last summer was spent on my almost annual pilgrimage to the British new towns in which I am conducting a continuing research project on the social and managerial aspects of development. I also had some most interesting visits to various universities including that at beautiful medieval Durham and Swansea, Wales. I also made my annual series of visits to the Department of the Environment in London, where the three former Ministries of Housing and Local Government; Transportation; and Public Works and Buildings are now combined, enabling most enlightened control of environmental quality to be achieved. I had a most interesting series of small seminars there, and in other places.

The school year has passed subsequently with its usual meteoric speed, where once you get into orbit, classes, conferences, guest lectures, publications, and administrative chores of various kinds pass by in a Grand Prix blur. This year, in addition to the courses I usually teach, I was asked to structure a new course (ultimately titled "Visual Data Management"), in response to student requests. This covered a lot of ground in areas to which our students have not been exposed. It has proven to be a most valuable experience, on top of which it has been a lot of fun, enabling students to become familiar with pragmatic skills and circumstances of direct application in their future professional lives. I have also taught a special course in Washington, D.C., at the request of Southern Illinois University.

So here we are again, almost at the end of the semester and the start of the summer session. Some supervision of internships, conducting our annual Institute at Illinois Beach State Park (Zion, Illinois, June 22/23), and then off to Britain for some more research...and it all starts again!

A very busy year - but most rewarding and invigorating!!"

Bill Goodman reports: "While on leave, I continued to serve as director of the Office of Urban Systems, U.S. Department of Transportation. My office played a major role in drafting the administration's Highway-Transit Bill, introduced in 1972, with efforts continuing in 1973. Among research being conducted by the office are projects related to the Garment Center in New York City and to new metropolitan institutions for planning. I also assumed direction of the urban aspects of the new University Research Program of the Department.

I was appointed to the National Advisory Council of the Johns Hopkins Center for Metropolitan Affairs and to the Urban Information Systems Inter-Agency Committee (USAC). I remain on the review panel of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

In international activities, I met in Geneva with an urban transportation working group of the European Economic Commission, visited recently completed transit facilities in Paris, and delivered a paper in Merida, Mexico at an Inter-American conference on the intra structure of urban transportation.

I conducted seminars at the University of Southern California and at Princeton and delivered addresses to the National Association of Regional Councils, American Society for Public Administration, and the New York City chapter of ASCE. My paper on staggered work hours, delivered to the latter organization, was published in the Transportation Law Journal and in the British journal, Traffic Engineering and Control.

Professional conferences attended included ASPO, Highway Research Board, Society of Automotive Engineers, and Inter-Society Conference on Transportation, where I delivered a paper on new perceptions of urban transportation, reprinted in the Conference Proceedings.

Various assignments took me also to Hawaii, San Diego, Boston, San Clemente, and Orlando.

My wife continues to teach in the program of English as a Second Language at the University of Illinois, while commuting frequently to Washington.

My daughter Ann was admitted to the graduate program in Comparative Literature at the University of Chicago. This past summer she was a student at the Goethe Institute in Rothenburg, Germany. My daughter spent last summer at a "dig" in Israel before resuming her studies at Johns Hopkins this academic year."

Al Guttenberg reports: "The summer before last (1971), as my sabbatical was ending I was invited to conduct a seminar on my land use classification systems at the University of Bologna in Italy. Last summer (1972), to enable me to pursue further the development of an international land use language, I was given a grant by the Center for International Comparative Studies of the University of Illinois. My one-month mission took me to four European countries where I visited many planning agencies and institutes. The results of this project to date have recently been published in a monographic issue of the Italian urbanistics journal, Parametro.

On the teaching front, I inaugurated this year (Fall Semester) a course entitled Urban Structure and Functions (UP 373), required for first-year grads. It is one of a family of courses in urban structure available in this and other departments. My purpose in the course is to address certain questions usually not emphasized in other structure courses, but which are (or should be) of interest to future planners, such as the question of "the good city." I also participated with Professor Wetmore in the development of a two-semester seminar and workshop sequence in urban growth policy. The history course, which some of you may remember, continues-- this semester exclusively with undergrads of urban planning and other departments.

I still edit the Bureau Newsletter. If someone has a short planning article (13 double-spaced pages) he or she would like me to consider, don't be shy."

Leonard F. Heumann reports: "Teaching - With my third course in housing under-way this spring, I have completed the major framework of the housing specialty within planning. To be a "houser," a grad should take my three courses in housing, including Housing and Macro Social Policy Analysis, Housing and Regional Planning Practice and a housing workshop which varies from semester to semester, but deals with a "real world" client and issue. In addition, a course in private real estate investment decision is required in the finance department. Optional courses in housing -- law, design, finance and regional economic models -- are also provided on campus to round out the program.

Research; papers - To all my students who have lamented for me as I struggled with my Ph.D. dissertation over the last 2 1/2 years, I am glad to say it should be completed this May or June. I am presenting a paper to the International Symposium on Urban Housing (at Wayne State University, Detroit) this May in the area of my dissertation, entitled, "The Role of Urban Housing as a Physical, Social and Economic System in Evolving and Maintaining Stable Racial and Socio-Economic Integration."

Family - No one will be happier when I have my dissertation behind me than my family. My five-year old daughter, Sarena, has been writing "her" dissertation concurrently--only she finished over a year ago, with a portfolio of work twice as thick as mine! Son Aaron is now approaching two and will probably enter Montessori next fall, where Mommy hopes eventually to become a directress. Rob has a great deal of training and experience with early childhood education; and, since our daughter has been in Montessori, has become a devotee of Rudolph Dreikurs, whose theories have been adapted to modern Montessori environments."

Sue-Ellen Jacobs reports: "I have been involved in research for community development with students in graduate and undergraduate workshops. While our principal site for research stimulus is a free neighborhood health center, our applied approach has made it necessary to consider not only the nature of this health center, but also that of the other health facilities in the county. Suspecting racial and class bias in delivery of health care we have: surveyed local physicians (with over 80% response to formal face-to-face interviewing); investigated interactions and attitudes in local hospitals (three students conducted interviews with hospital administrators, nurses, orderlies, and other staff members, as well as observing in-take procedures in out-patient and emergency rooms); interviewed nurses and staff in the public health office, staff in social service agencies responsible for financial assistance to low income people, and staff in special offices concerned with particular age or health problem groups (Office on Aging, Department of Public Aid), county and city welfare offices, and other agencies which have peripheral, if not central, roles in the opportunity for local people to receive "adequate" health care. In addition, we have conducted two surveys in the community (one on health needs, the other on attitudes toward existing and potential health delivery systems), and we have completed an analysis of health education programs. In the latter case, four students interviewed students, teachers, and school administrators in elementary, junior high and high schools regarding the nature and value of health education at each grade level. They also sat in on the "health education" sessions of different grade levels and did content analysis of texts, lectures, and discussions. (A full report of our research and findings will be published at a later date.)

A grant for community service and development has been awarded through the Illinois Junior College Board providing us the opportunity to assist in development in the "North End." I read a paper based on the work with the health center at the American Anthropological Association meetings in Toronto in November, '72."

Scott Keyes attended the Second Conference on Urban and Regional Research held in Dublin, Ireland, October 23-30, 1972, under the auspices of the United Nations' Economic Commission for Europe. Following the conference, he spent several days in Stockholm as a consultant to Per Holm, Director of the National Swedish Council of Building Research and Chairman of a subcommittee of ECE which is drawing up plans for a new international clearing-house for information on European urban and regional research.

During the past several months, Scott has been working on methods of enhancing the comprehensive planning capabilities of area-wide planning organizations. He hopes to accomplish this by utilizing data on the total sources and uses of public funds as a principal informational input into area-wide planning and as a direct link to the decision-making process. The work is being carried out under the auspices of the Illinois Office of Planning and Analysis and the Champaign County Regional Planning Commission.

Scott will be on sabbatical next year. While he is away from the Department, he plans to work on moving this study from the research to the demonstration project stage. He also plans to spend some time on drafting as well as lobbying for federal legislation in the field of growth and development policy.

Bill Lienesch. There are a number of research projects which the Alumni might be interested in. One, of course, is the Peoria Tri-County Project, funded by the Illinois Institute for Social Policy. We've been evaluating a demonstration project which is attempting to improve the quality of social service delivery. Another is the investigation of the attitudes and transportation characteristics of the elderly in a predominantly rural county in south central Illinois. In addition, the city of Urbana asked us to help determine resident views on a proposed system of bikeways. We've developed a questionnaire which has been mailed to a sample of the Urbana residents. The findings will be made available to the city council to help it make a decision on this issue.

Carl Vernon Patton reports: "During this academic year I continued to teach planning methods. However, UP 376 was divided into two courses, UP 376 Planning Analysis and UP 475 Planning Methods, taught respectively in the Fall and Spring. UP 376 covers symbolic language, computer programming, model building and linear programming. UP 475 covers survey research methods and census-based analysis, population analysis and projection, transportation analysis, economic studies and evaluation techniques.

In the planning methods workshops we focused upon technology assessment and cable communications. Two of my students, Jane Glazer and Jim Grimes, prepared a five-part series for the Champaign-Urbana Courier presenting our analysis of the local CATV franchise battle. (I had to settle for a single article in the Daily Illini.)

This year my research included continuing development of a PLATO teaching computer-based simulation of social policy and evaluation of a pilot program to provide transportation to the rural elderly in the Hillsboro, Illinois, area. With co-investigators Mike Brooks and Merlin Taber (University of Illinois Jane Addams School of Social Work) I undertook a research project intended to evaluate the effectiveness of the 'Service Access System,' an information and referral system in Peoria, Woodford and Tazewell Counties, Illinois.

Based upon my research on cable communications, I presented a paper at the Boston AIP conference: 'Cable Communications, Urbanization Policy and Personal Choice.' A paper on another aspect of cable technology was published as the Fall, 1972, Bureau Newsletter: "Cable Communications and the Urban Environment." My interest in this topic led me to chair the 'Cable Television and Governmental Policy' section of the American Society for Public Administration National Conference in Los Angeles during April, 1973.

Keeping up my interest in gaming simulation, I presented a paper 'Gaming Simulation in Planning Education' as a Gaming Workshop held by the College of Design, Architecture and Art, University of Cincinnati, in January, 1973.

As this Alumni Newsletter was going to press, I decided to accept an NIMH fellowship from the School of Public Policy at the University of California, Berkeley. This Fall, then, I will begin to work toward a Ph.D. in Public Policy."

Mary Vance. The City Planning and Landscape Architecture Library has concentrated the past year on expanding service and creating better communications between the faculty, students, and the library. The urban planning department has moved to new offices on Nevada so it became necessary to find some means of keeping the faculty and students actively involved in the library. This has taken the form of a library committee consisting of two graduate students, two undergraduates, two members of the faculty, and myself. From our meetings thus far, several ideas have been exchanged which have resulted in the introduction of new services: new Sunday hours are now in effect, and a library manual is being prepared for next fall that will assist new students and current ones in finding their way to needed material. Most important of all, however, is the general improvement in communication between the library and those who use it. The library hopes that such attempts on our part to remain open to suggestions will keep the level of service up to our standards. If any alumni would care to contribute either ideas or published material relating to landscape architecture or urban planning, send to Mary Vance.

Louis B. Wetmore reports: "Two of the Spring 1972 workshops involved cooperative study and the production of reports with specific clients. One workshop study, with the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, developed recommendations for more effective cooperation in planning by regional planning agencies and state agencies.

The other workshop examined revenue sharing, with particular emphasis on the impact on the City of Springfield of undertaking the planning and programming required by revenue sharing. This was done in cooperation with Chuck Kirchner, the City Coordinator.

During the Summer of 1972 Professor Blair and I directed a study aimed at producing a Chicago Lakefront Plan and Program. The Summer working draft was developed into a report by the Department of Development and Planning and presented to the public in December.

During the Fall Semester a seminar on growth policy developed a workshop program which is now in progress in cooperation with the DuPage County Planning Department. Joe Abel, Director, and Jim Smith, Assistant Director are alumni who have been most helpful to the students.

Also during this Spring a Model Cities seminar is developing a cooperative study with Indianapolis-Marion County focused on the Multi-Purpose Service Center. Again, alumni Mike Carroll and Dave Carley are playing key roles, along with other staff members.

During the year I have continued committee work with the Highway Research Board and the American Institute of Planners which led me to Washington, but infrequently."

● SPO NEWS

Dear Alumnus:

It is not an easy task to define what we are doing in the Student Planning Organization. We are trying to reorganize the organizational structure of the S.P.O. in order that we may achieve better contact among students within the Department and among other planning schools. Through this reorganization we also hope to enjoy a greater participation of the students in the activities of the S.P.O.

We have initiated a program whereby we are contacting alumni (you) to speak informally with the students in the Department in order that the difficulties and successes of changing from the role of student to practicing planner can be articulated. If you should happen to be passing through Champaign-Urbana and can give a short notice, it will be greatly appreciated if you can stop by and talk to the planning students here.

We are still working on such issues as broad-based student participation in Departmental decision-making, abolition of required courses, community-based advocacy programs, and a major recruitment of members of minorities into planning. While considerable progress has been made in some of these areas, other areas remain to be of primary consideration for present and future actions.

This year there has also appeared the Black Urban Planning Student Association (B.U.P.S.A.). Its primary purpose is to deal with those issues which are of concern to the Black and minority students in the planning program. On issues of mutual concern, B.U.P.S.A. and S.P.O. will coordinate the efforts of the organizations. We are also hoping to institute a Student Research Service for professional planners. We know it's difficult for you to look deeply into all the subjects that are of interest. Since we have very good library facilities here, we felt it might as well be of some profit to us and use to you. We will have an advertisement out on this soon. However, since blood is thicker than water, we felt you should get a sneak preview. If the research idea interests you at all, or if you just want some mail, write us; we will write back.

The Student Planning Organization aims to keep the Department on its toes and not to allow it to rest on its laurels - we are striving for a still better Department.

Sincerely,

Tim Berkesch

● BUPSA NEWS

In February of 1973, the black students in the Department of Urban and Regional Planning organized to form a new student planning organization. This new organization is called the Black Urban Planning Student Association, and is composed of all black students in planning, both graduates and undergraduates. The objectives of the organization are specifically concerned with rectifying a wide range of problems confronting black students in planning. It should be pointed out that we are not a crisis-oriented organization. The organization's programs and objectives have long-range importance to black students entering and completing a planning degree program. It is our contention that this organization must be part of the continuing process of informational exchange between black students and the Department. In this way, the Department can become more responsive to the needs of black planning students.

Stated briefly, some of the concerns that the organization shall address itself to would include the following: admissions; faculty recruitment; course offerings; campus-community relations; financial assistance; and internships. These subject areas are by no means the only concerns of the organization, but they were mentioned to provide you with some idea as to the scope of our interests.

It is our fervent hope that the Black Urban Planning Student Association's relationship with the Department will be a mutually rewarding one for all concerned.

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

HARRY D. FREEMAN (BSLG).

October 19, 1959 to February 17, 1967: Deputy Director - Planning, California Department of Public Works, working principally with State Division of Highways and Scenic Highway Program. Retired from this position on February 17, 1967, to announce later for private practice in city planning, land planning, new town design and related matters.

February 17, 1958 to October 19, 1959: Chief of Planning, Engineering and Development, Redevelopment Agency of the City of Sacramento, California, 1006 Fourth Street.

January, 1957 to February 17, 1958: On special assignment as Associate with the Engineering Office of Clyde C. Kennedy, 804 Mission Street, San Francisco 5.

September, 1955 to December 1956: Chief Designer for Harland Bartholomew and Associates, City Planning Consultants, Home Office, 317 No. 11th Street, St. Louis 1, Mo. Job assignments were preliminary design of a new townsite of 5,000 acres at Moraga (Contra Costa County), California; plan for and expansion of the town of Olongapo within the U.S. Naval Reservation, Subic Bay, Philippine Islands; preparation of final plans and basic data for Olongapo; layout for housing on Midway Island, and various projects on Oahu. The Honolulu Branch Office was used as a base for the work in the Philippines.

March, 1950 to September, 1955: Operated in private practice as Planning Consultant with office in Portland, Oregon. Principal work was for Multnomah County Planning Commission, Portland, Oregon; Marion County Planning Commission, Salem, Oregon; City Planning Commission, Pocatello, Idaho; general plan for "Cedar Hills," a new town of 12,000 population near Portland, for Commonwealth, Incorporated, Equitable Building, Portland, Oregon; preliminary work on a 7,500 acre townsite above McNary Dam in Umatilla County, Oregon, for R.W. Richmond of Portland, Oregon; various land subdivisions; expert witness in planning and condemnation suits. Accepted position as Chief Designer with Harland Bartholomew and Associate City Planners.

January, 1942 to March, 1950: Executive Director for Housing Authority of Portland, Oregon, having been "drafted" from position of Planning Director, Portland City Planning Commission to this wartime housing activity. Had executive charge of staff, planning, construction and management for $50-million war housing program comprising 25 projects and totaling some 20,000 dwelling units. Peak employment was 1,600 persons on Housing Authority payroll. Resigned to return to city planning practice.

June, 1935 to January, 1942: Planning Director, City Planning Commission, Portland, Oregon. In charge of staff and planning program. Work included extensive rezoning program; planning and administration; master plan for recreational areas. The latter served as the basis for a 10-year park

- acquisition program approved by vote of the people and, similarly, a ten-year program for improvement of the acquired areas was later approved by the voters. A complete study of all sites suitable for housing war workers was made long in advance of definite need of such sites by shipyards and other war industries. During this employment I was appointed to panel of consultants for Public Buildings Administration of the Federal Works Agency, and National Resources Planning Board. Was loaned to the former Oregon State Planning Board to prepare plan for and relocation of the town of Bandon, Oregon, completely destroyed by fire in 1936. Was granted a leave of six months in 1940 to serve the Regional Planning Commission, Hamilton County, Cincinnati, Ohio. Served also as Consultant to League of Oregon Cities and lectured on planning at annual Institute of Government, University of Washington at Seattle. Was "drafted" to serve as Executive Director of Housing Authority of Portland for its wartime program.
- January, 1934 to June, 1935: Selected site and prepared general plan for Babler State Park, near St. Louis, Missouri. Site selection was done in connection with study of park system for the St. Louis Regional Plan under Harland Bartholomew. General Plan was prepared while employed by State Game and Fish Commission of Missouri. Supervised part of the construction of Babler State Park as an employee of Missouri State Park Emergency Conservation Work program. Resigned to go to Portland, Oregon, as Planning Director.
- December, 1933 to January, 1934: Architect-Designer, City Plan Commission, St. Louis, Missouri, under Harland Bartholomew. Handled administrative matters designed parks, street extensions, land subdivisions; selected park sites and parkways for Regional Park system. Position terminated by drastic budget reduction.
- February, 1932 to December, 1933: Supervised 200 unemployed architectural and engineering draftsmen in Portland, Oregon. Prepared large-scale strip maps of entire major street system (from the Bartholomew Report prepared in 1931) maps of all underground utilities and structures in central district of Portland; assembled preliminary data for later design of system of intercepting sewers and sewage treatment plant; prepared Land Use Survey (66.7 square miles) of Portland. Resigned to take position with City Plan Commission, under Harland Bartholomew, in St. Louis.
- January, 1931 to February, 1932: Resident City Planner for Harland Bartholomew and Associates in charge of their work for the City Planning Commission of Portland, Oregon. Prepared preliminary draft of the report on a System of Major Traffic Streets and Treatment of East Side waterfront. Report also included special study of railroads and terminal operation.
- October, 1939 to January, 1931: Landscape contracting (moving of large trees), Cleveland, Ohio.
- August, 1928 to October, 1929: Architect-Designer, City Plan Commission, St. Louis, Missouri, under Harland Bartholomew, administration of zoning, subdivision rules, street design, golf course design, park design. Resigned to get experience in landscape construction.
- September, 1923 to August, 1928: General Field Representative for Harland Bartholomew and Associates, 317 North 11th Street, St. Louis 1, Missouri. Duties involved preparation of field work and supervision of final drawings in the St. Louis office; supervision of various field jobs and of draftsmen in St. Louis office; writing, public appearances. Principal cities included the following: Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Chattanooga, Tennessee; Orlando, Florida; Peoria, Illinois; Fort Worth, Texas; San Angelo, Texas; Kirkwood, Missouri; Cape Girardeau, Missouri; New Orleans, Louisiana; Champaign, Illinois; Evansville, Indiana; Knoxville, Tennessee; Lucas County (Toledo), Ohio; Portland, Oregon; Schnectady, New York, and miscellaneous work in other cities. Transferred to St. Louis City Plan Commission under Harland Bartholomew.

KENNETH L. SCHELLIE (BSLA). "Continuing to carry on practice in planning and landscape architecture - it is still interesting and challenging, but somehow the work days seem to be getting longer and the out of town travel less exciting."

1932 :

RALPH S. ELLIFRIT (BSLA). "Have retired as a member of firm of Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam - Engineers and Planners. During the past year have been involved in planning of two large recreation areas for the State of Alaska Parks Division - one near Fairbanks and the other near Seward."

1937 :

GLENN M. DUNKLE (BSLA). "I was officially retired from the City of Richmond D.P.&C.D. December 1, 1972, but I am staying on the job until a replacement arrives."

1940 :

RAYMOND W. MILLS (BFALA). "Still a bachelor (no family). Have been in private practice as a Community Planner and Landscape Architect for 13 years. Sold most of my stock to two other people in office four years ago and now call the firm Edwards, Johnson, Mills & Associates, Inc. Am registered in the State of Michigan in both professions."

1944 :

ART SPENCER (BFALA). "No news."

1948 :

GEORGE S. BURRIDGE (BFALA). "Following a stand as Director of Development for the City of Chicago, Department of Urban Renewal, I was with the office of Franz Lipp & Associates, Landscape Architects, for three years. Four years ago, I opened my own office. Our practice is about evenly divided between work with public agencies and private clients. My wife, Marge, is a practicing commercial artist and from that happy union have come two delightful daughters Jean and Ruth, now 15 and 12."

DICK COLEMAN (BFALA). "In July my wife (Lucy Galler, Class of '49), our four children and I moved to San Mateo, California, where I became the Director of Community Development. We miss the warm weather and beaches of Southern California where we lived the last ten years but enjoy breathing clean air and being near San Francisco."

D. ROBERT SCHERER (BFALA, MSCP). "Have left the Economic Development Administration as Special Project Officer for Indian Affairs and transferred to the Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Research and Monitoring - my assignment will be to develop policy guidelines relating to land use planning's effect on the environment."

CHARLES E. AGUAR (MSCP). Charles Aguar was appointed for the fall quarter as consultant to the staff of the Georgia Heritage Trust Advisory Commission and has assisted in identifying and recommending policies for the protection and management of the most outstanding remaining natural and cultural areas in the state. This involves finding the geological, scenic, and best examples of physiographic regions as well as the historical and archeological sites in the state. At the beginning of winter quarter, 1973, he will return to the school for full time teaching.

HARGOVIND K. MEWADA (MSCP). "I left my previous appointment as Chief Town Planner and Architectural Adviser to Government of Rajasthan, Jaipur and have joined as Chief Town Planner and Architect for GANDHINAGAR, the New Capital City of the State of Gujarat in January, 1965. After Chandigadh this is the first Capital City in India being designed by local planners and architects. I am also Officer on Special Duty and Joint Secretary to the Government of Gujarat for Town Planning in the State. My wife Shanta and I have a happy life in the new Capital. We have three grown up children. The boy is studying Civil Engineering at Baroda and the elder daughter is studying M.A. in English in Gujarat University."

WILLIAM R. KLATT (BFALA). "No major changes since last report. I do applaud this effort on your part."

EDWIN J. MOSES (MSCP). "As Park Development Director, Public Works Agency, County of San Diego, California, we have continued acquiring and building one major regional park each year and are now moving into an average annual program of $4 million for park development to implement the County's General Park Plan."

1953:

G. EDWARD SWANSON (BSLO). "Have transferred from the Planning Department to the Public Works Agency of San Diego County. New position is 'County Service Area Planner/Coordinator.' Have 59 various County Special Districts under my supervision which provide various special services ranging from ambulance and fire protection to street lighting and road maintenance and including park and landscape maintenance."

1956:

J. NELSON ASH (BSCP). "Owner - J. Nelson Ash/Associates, City and Land Planners. Married - wife - Mary, two children (wife's first marriage). Professional practice includes city planning, land planning (broad activities in residential, commercial, industrial, public and recreational land projects). Recent work involved several thousand acres in metropolitan Kansas City area, N.D.P., urban renewal, etc. Previous positions include Director of Planning, Black & Veatch, Consulting Engineers, Kansas City, Missouri; Bernard Johnson Engineers, Houston, Texas; Joe E. Ward, Consulting Engineers, Wichita Falls, Texas; Sr. Planner, Houston, Texas City Planning Commission; Planner, Resident Planner, Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis, Missouri and Waco, Texas."

1957:

JAMES E. MINNOCH (MSCP). "Besides being a professor of urban studies, I have been active as a planning consultant; currently completing a New Hampshire State Environmental Study. Spend summers at my Maine ocean house with daughter Sarah."

DAVID A. ROGIER (BFALA). "Director of Planning for Reid, Quebe, Allison, Wilcox and Associates, Inc., with offices at 3901 Industrial Boulevard in Indianapolis. Together with an affiliated firm, consulting services in architecture, engineering and planning are offered by a staff of approximately 100. Current planning assignments in Illinois and Indiana include "701" work, recreation master planning, landscape architecture, comprehensive utility planning, solid waste planning and economic development studies."

ROBERT C. SIMONDS (BSCP). "While the pace of extension work goes steadily along at University of Missouri, the Missouri State Planning Office in the Department of Community Affairs may be in for some changes with a new Governor. The legislature did not include D.O.C.A. in the reorganization bill which is under consideration now...."

ROBERT J. VAN TREECK (BSCP).

ROBERT E. GILTNER (BFALA, MSCP). "Still enjoying 'private' life after nearly 15 years in the public sector. Our firm continues to work on a variety of interesting projects including the renewal of Rapid City, South Dakota; after the big flood and preparing for development of Colorado's vast oil shale reserves on the western slope of the state. The graduate program at the University of Colorado, Denver Center, is in its second year with too little staff, too small a budget and poor physical facilities. The firm is still working as instructors and counsellors, hoping to see a well organized graduate planning school emerge. The reorganizational days of the early '50's in the Department at the University of Illinois seem almost serene compared to the problems at the University of Colorado. Am also personally involved with Historic Preservation as a member of the Consulting Committee for Colorado under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966."

DEAN L. MACRIS (MSCP). "Made a job change recently: Formerly: Assistant Director, Department of City Planning, San Francisco, California; Now: Director Community Development, Office of the Mayor, San Francisco, California."

1959:

THOMAS A. FICHT (BFALA). "I am the Planning/Engineering Specialist for Community Development here in HUD Region IV (the 8 SE States) and am responsible for training and technical assistance to our 8 Area Offices (and sometimes our client communities) for urban renewal, model cities, and community facilities. My family still consists of wife Jean and daughter Andrea, 13."

BILL LAMONT (MSCP). "Wife - Joan, three children - Leslie, 13; Laurel, 11; Willy, 9. Director of Community Development - 5 1/2 years in Boulder."

WALTER T. MILLINER (MSCP). "1972 Intergovernmental Affairs Fellow with Virginia Division of State Planning and Community Affairs; now on one year assignment under Intergovernmental Personnel Act as Executive Assistant for Water Quality Management Planning, Virginia State Water Control Board."

HOWARD MIURA (BSCP). "San Antonio is currently implementing a reorganization of City functions as recommended by a management consulting firm. Planning as a department has been abolished. Of the three existing divisions -- Administration, Comprehensive Planning, and Community Analysis Program -- the latter, my division, and Comprehensive Planning will end up in the City Manager's Office of Community Development. Administration -- zoning and subdivision -- will end up in the Housing and Inspection Department. Due to Texas liberal annexation policy, San Antonio is now the 11th largest city in the U.S. It was the 13th. If you're wondering how to get comprehensive plans adopted, to get support for your planning endeavors, and to succeed in the planning profession and life, Rx concept therapy."

THOMAS L. NURSE (BSCP). "No news at this time."

CARLTON CHARLES REED (BSCP). "After a three-year stint as Planning Administrator for the City of Columbus, Ohio, I resigned to become a consultant to the State of Ohio to develop a state policies plan and program by the Fall of 1974. Also I lectured part-time at Ohio State in their MCP program for the past two years."

1960:

CHARLES O. BROWN (MEALA). "Director of Planning, Herbert H. Smith Associates, West Trenton, New Jersey. Wife: Elaine. Children: David 13, Susanne 9, Christopher 4."

M. WALTER D'ALESSIO (MSCP). "Recently changed jobs from: Executive Director, Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority, to: Executive Vice President, Philadelphia Industrial Development Corporation."

ROBERT W. JENTSCH (MSCP). "Director of Planning, Fairfax County, Virginia."

D.C. NEVILLE (MSCP). "Since assuming the position of Director of Planning and Construction for the Medical Center campus in September of 1970, I have moved my family, wife Jane, daughter Abbie, son, Clay, to the Chicago suburb of Evanston in the summer of 1972. We are busy getting acquainted with our new neighbors and especially in renovating the huge, 100 year old home we purchased."

DOUGLAS R. PORTER (MSCP). "With four children, under six, we are not doing too many exciting things these days, but do plan to visit Europe (en masse) in connection with my wife's Ph.D. dissertation. Planning consulting being what it is these days, I consider myself fortunate to be engaged in some interesting projects, especially Beal Street and downtown in Memphis. I will be teaching at Catholic University again this summer also."

RICHARD O. ROTH (BSCP). "I have been working for the Navy Facilities Engineering Command for the past eight years. Currently I hold the position of a Master Planning Team Leader in the Planning Department of the Pacific Division, Naval Facilities Engineering Command here in Hawaii. My present job is planner-in-charge of the Master Plan for the U.S. Naval Complex, Subic Bay in the Philippines. Over the past several years I have worked on planning studies for Naval and Marine Corps activities in Hawaii, Japan, Taiwan, Philippines and on Guam and Okinawa. It's a great job if you like to travel and can survive budget cuts."

JAMES C. SCHRADER (BSCP). "DEUD's development of Area Offices resulted in many planners leaving that agency. Such an occurrence resulted in my transfer to the Economic Development Administration, Midwestern Regional Office, Planning Division (Chicago, Illinois). During the past 1 1/2 years I have attempted to bring the planning process to its proper position of importance within the economic development process. This work has involved the development of Growth Center planning strategies, regional office management plans and economic planning strategies, as well as perfecting evaluation procedures and techniques relative to multi-county planning organizations. E.D.A. officials in Washington hopefully look upon these planning efforts in overcoming administration and Congressional criticism of agency pork-barrel projects. Our only hope is that the planning approach is found acceptable by OMB and Congress before the phasing out of EDA. Time is short. EDA is one of the few Federal Agencies left that supports the concept of Comprehensive Planning. There are only two or three AIP types within EDA despite the fact that there are some 50-75 planning positions within the agency. While EDA has supported Economic Development District planning programs, in-house planning efforts have required much effort and dedication. I hope time does not run out before planning comes of age within EDA."

C.M. SMART, JR. (MSCP). "I received a Fulbright Lecturership in Architecture to teach at the University of Kabul, Afghanistan for the 1972-73 school year. Prior to arriving in Kabul, the Smart family traveled in Central Europe for two months, where I was gathering material for an article and photo exhibition."

VERNON GEORGE (BSCP). "My Washington staff continues to grow at a rapid rate and the work becomes more diversified all the time. The environmental field has emerged as a strong business sector for us and large scale real estate analysis promises to be very important in 1973. Amy, Lisa and the twins are still thriving in Reston. All is well."

STUART G. HALL (BSCP). "Vice President of Lobdell & Hall, Inc. Land developer currently developing seven single family detached and PUD type projects. Vice Chairman of the City County Planning Commission. Instructor at Rock Valley College and the Graduate Realtors Institute in Peoria, Illinois."

RONALD E. KALISZEWSKI (MSCP). "Have been Assistant Director of Office of Local and Urban Affairs for last two years. Heavily involved in sub-state districting and regionalization. Other areas: administering Park and Recreation Grants, training of local government employees, general assistance to units of local government."

ROBERT B. TESKA (MSCP). "Vice President, Land and Community Planning."

LAWRENCE BEECHER MOORE (BUP). "I am currently General Planning Administrator for the Irvine Company and handle all zoning and related problems for company projects within the City of Newport Beach and unincorporated county areas along the coastline between Newport Beach and Laguna Beach. Therefore, I am becoming well involved with the ramifications of California's recent Proposition 20! I received my M.S. in Planning from U.S.C. in 1970."

THEODORE G. WILDING (MSCP). "I changed jobs during this past year. The story behind the reasons is long and probably very typical; however, it was probably to my benefit."

EDWIN C. ADAMS (MSCP). "Upon retirement from active military service in July, 1969 (as a Colonel, U.S.A.), undertook a position with the Bureau of State Planning and Community Affairs, Office of the Governor, Georgia. Appointed Director of Community Affairs, which included administration and management for the State of the HUD 701 Planning and Management Program, State Model Cities Coordination activities and numerous other functions involving local governments and regional planning agencies within the State. Currently, Director, Community Affairs Division, Department of Community Development, Georgia."

JOHN FONDERSMITH (MSCP). "I am now Deputy Chief of the Comprehensive Physical Planning Section, D.C. Office of Planning and Management, dealing primarily with development of the new Metro system, and with plans for development of Metro station areas."

GOPAL KRISHNA KANHERE (MSCP). "I am Professor & Head of the Town Planning Department, College of Engineering, Poona, India. The Department admits graduates in Architecture or Civil Engineering, for a two-year full-time course leading to the Masters Degree (M.E.) in Town Planning of the Poona University. My work is absorbing, interesting and to my liking. My wife, whom I first met with at Illinois, is an alumna of the University of Illinois - (Parvin Fallah, M.S., [Physiology & Biochemistry] 1963). After our marriage in India in June, 1963, she worked for some time as Research Assistant at Ciba Research Centre, Bombay, India. At present she is devoting almost all her time in bringing up our two daughters - Kalpana, aged 7, robust and bonny, and Manisha, aged 3, rather delicate but very beautiful."

ROY T. KATO (BSCP). No new news.

CLIFFORD G. STRASSENBURG (BSCP). "For the first time in my career, I find myself planning for the jurisdiction in which I live. The Joint Planning Board serves Fayetteville, Cumberland County and all other incorporated towns in the county -- total population 212,000. Our staff numbers 18, including 10 professionals. Margaret is in nursing school now and the kids are another year older and proportionally more cantankerous. We 'converted Yankees' are finding the sunny South a great place to live and work."

ROGER L. SUDDLESON (MSCP). "Since leaving the U. of I., home base has been established in the Philadelphia area (of course marrying a Philadelphia girl had nothing to do with it). We have two sons (5 1/2 and 3)."

HERBERT HAAR (MSCP). "Continue as Associate Port Director for Planning and Engineering for Port of New Orleans, the nation's No. 2 port. Have been appointed during past year as a director of National Waterways Conference, Water Resources Congress, and the Gulf Intercoastal Canal Association. Also served on Governor of Louisiana's Task Force for developing plan for a Louisiana superport. Daughter (Susan) graduated from University of California at Berkeley with a degree in Sociology and son (Herbert III) graduated from Johns Hopkins University with a degree in History and is continuing at Hopkins in Graduate School in History.

WILLIAM E. ISSEL (MSCP). "We sponsored reunion cocktail party for University of Illinois Planning Alumni in Connecticut as a result of the 'Alumni News.'"

SUSAN BRESLER (BUP). "Am presently doing dissertation research on the job at Humanics. 'Measuring Health Care Benefits' is the topic for a Ph.D. in economics at Georgia State University. Will be combining urban planning and economics to teach urban economics at the University of Tulsa as an assistant professor beginning September, 1973."

JAMES B. CONNER (MUP). "Job: We are actively engaged in providing multi-professional services toward saving the world -- especially in the fields of criminal justice and correctional systems planning, urban renewal, land development, and new town planning. Lou Wetmore's son, John, is Assistant Director of Little Rock Model Cities Agency and we work together serving the needs of Little Rock poverty. Family: All six of us (two girls, two boys and same Ybeltje) are getting there and having fun doing it. One of the more important activities we indulge in is cross country bicycling -- we also drink beer (still). Keep on truckin and come visit. Tom Davis is alive and well!!!! (in Alaska?)"

LAMONTE E. KOLSTE (MUP). Mr. Kolste is Chief of the Development Division of the National Park and Planning Commission in Riverdale, Maryland and is currently involved in the administration of land development, urban design, and subdivision implementation aspects of the planning program for Punie George county. His wife, Susan, is a degree candidate in Education at the University of Maryland. They have two children, Lisa (6) and Debra (4).

CHARLES F. LEWIS (MUP). "Principal Planner with the Fairfax County Office of Planning and Chief of the current planning branch."

CHARLES SIMON (MUP). "Have been running own practice here in Toronto for the past three years (with a partner) and finding the activity highly enjoyable. Emphasis on architecture and urban design with more projects in the States currently than in Canada. Also teaching a studio architectural design course to landscape students at a local university and doing visiting critic stints here and there from time to time. Toronto is a great place and improving each year."

MEHLIN SMITH (BUP). "Since the world seemed to have no need for someone with a B.S. in City Planning, I decided to go back to school. I am now a freshman at the University of Illinois Dental School."

MARTIN C. GILCHRIST (MUP). Martin C. Gilchrist, wife, Jeanette and three daughters, live in the Allentown, Pennsylvania metro area where Marty is a partner and Executive Vice President of Urban Research & Development Corporation, Bethlehem, Pa. The multi-disciplined firm is presently active in approximately 20 states from Florida through the Northeast and Midwest. Services underway include regional and metropolitan planning, special market and economic research studies, urban renewal, urban design and all phases of large-scale land development from inception through construction and management.

JOHN R. MOELLER (BSCP). "Still in Chattanooga with the same agency and basically doing the same job. The family hasn't grown and we haven't changed addresses. This all points out that we love it down here and invite you all to come down and visit, and see for yourself."

DENNIS A. HARDER (MUP). "I am now the General Assistant to Martin Murphy, Assistant Commissioner for Development, Chicago Department of Development and Planning. I have two children - Kristin, 3 years old, and Matthew, born December 4, 1972 - and an 85 year old row house in Chicago's New Town (near Broadway and Diversey)."

VIRGINIA (GINGER) (BLAKE) HARRIS (MUP). "I'm mothering our 15-month old girl and doing volunteer work in politics and housing. We have just bought our first home and will be moving in two to three weeks."

RICHARD LORAAS (MUP). "Director of Research and Planning, City of Duluth."

FLOYD A. NICHOLS (MUP). "I terminated a twelve year career with HUD in September, 1972, to become Executive Vice President of Planned Management Corporation. Our firm is building on the Model City/Planned Variation Experience to assist local and state governments in planning for and managing revenue sharing and block grants. We are still residents of Atlanta until the end of current school year."

1968:

FRANK BEAL (MUP). "I'm still happily married. I have two children. I'm still working at ASPO."

BRUCE GALLOWAY (BSCP, MUP). "Recently completed a book on military elitism and how the U.S. Armed Forces operate independently of the values of a democracy. It will be published by Simon and Schuster in April, 1973. Am currently working on another book for the same publisher about the American West and how its heroes, myths and dialectical thrust helped shape the dubious ideals of the contemporary paradigm. Beyond that it's about Buffalo Bill...I think!"

ROGER E. MYERS (BUP). "Associate Planner - Local Technical Assistance Division Addition to family - Leslie Jolene born 6/2/72 (by adoption)."

STEVEN D. PERLMAN (BUP).

PATRICIA ROBERTS (BUTTON) (MUP). "Got married January, 1969, to an English town planner. Now have two children - Matthew (born April 15, 1971) and Emily (born December 28, 1972). Due to the demands of child care, working as a part-time lecturer in planning techniques at Oxford Polytechnic. Gery (my husband) is an Assistant Chief Planner with Milton Keynes (new town) Development Corporation in the designated area of which we live."

RICHARD C. UNWIN (BUP). "After graduation in 1968 I entered the Navy and served as a photographer in the Philippines aboard an aircraft carrier off Viet Nam and in San Francisco, California. In June, 1972, I entered the University of Tennessee's Graduate School of Planning and am currently studying and working as a research assistant on a Department of Defense program conducting research in the application of remote sensing in the detection of environmental change. I hope to receive my Masters Degree in Spring 1974."

JACK BOOKWALTER (BUP). "Am presently working for the Western Division, Naval Facilities Command. Writing environmental impact statements and doing site planning for naval family housing projects from Alaska to San Diego."

WILLIAM F. BROWN (MUP). "I am currently working as a Senior Planner conducting studies on housing for the Division of Planning and Zoning, City of Indianapolis, Indiana."

ALICE SANDERS BURCH (BUP). "Employed part-time. Environmental Planning and Research, Inc., Chicago, Illinois. My work primarily involves the preparation of NDP renewal applications and follow-up execution services."

STEPHEN R. DICE (BUP). "I have changed jobs during the past year; I am now Senior Planner with the consulting firm of Hayes, Seay, Mattern and Mattern here in Roanoke and enjoy the work very much. I was also married during the past year."

BILL DONOHUE (MUP). "Worked for the Bowe Company in Hartford, Connecticut. Now at Barton-Aschman working on new community projects. Live in Wilmette, two children - Liam 5 and Erin 2. All is well. Hello to all!"

ALLAN R. JOHANSON (BUP). "For the last year and a half I've been working part-time for the Wichita-Sedgwick Co Metropolitan Area Planning Department. When I'm released from the Air Force in June I plan to attend SIU in order to obtain a MSRP."

MARTIN LEITNER (MUP). "Last Fall, after three years as a practicing planner, I resigned my position with the Model Cities Agency of Kansas City, Missouri to return to the academic life. I decided to go to Law School at the University of Missouri at Kansas City, specializing in urban law. After one semester, I am very encouraged about the strong relationship between law and planning and the excellent urban law department at UMKC. Next semester I will be eligible to join the staff of the Urban Lawyer, a quarterly publication of the Law School. I could not have embarked upon this new career without the encouragement and support (both moral and financial) of my wife Ann, who is a special education teacher."

ROLAND LOCH (MUP). "On October 1, 1972, I started working full time in my own firm, which I had been building up together with my partner over the past year. Name and Address of the firm are: Working Association for Urban and Regional Planning and Data Processing, 53 Bonn - Bad Godesberg, Heerstraße 94 West Germany. At present most of our work is in the field of urban renewal according to the Urban Renewal and Development Act of September, 1972, which because of the legal power it provides to the public requires careful research in each case."

MILTON J. NICHOLAS (MUP). "As of June I returned to my position in Oakland after a year in the U.S. Naval Reserve. I have recently been involved in the preparation of two housing studies dealing with the distribution of all new assisted housing and the development of a housing element. Over the past year I have had the pleasure of seeing a number of fellow graduates who have been in the Bay Area."

LARRY PARNES (MUP). "After receiving my MUP in June, 1969, I jumped into the planning profession with the Nassau County Planning Commission on Long Island. Being solely an advisory body there wasn't much "action." I left in September 1970 for the Bronx Boro Office of the NYC Planning Department. I've been working primarily on different aspects of zoning - especially reviewing requests for zoning changes in the Boro. We deal with 14 community planning boards and this can be very interesting. On July 19, 1970, I took time out to marry Harriet Vermont who I met at Sherman Hall at the University of Illinois."

CARL VERNON PATTON (MUP). "Gretchen and I are fine. Jane is now four, John is three. I'll be taking a leave of absence from the University of Illinois to work on a Ph.D., and now am trying to decide which school to attend. I will focus on public policy, cable communications and technology assessment."

YORK PHILLIPS (BUP). "I am working for the Fairfax County Office of Planning, and am almost through with my work on an MUA degree at VPI-Reston. Vicki and our three year old son and I are living in Reston, which has its advantages and disadvantages."

DIANE M. PORTER (MUP). "Chief Planner for new town-in-town being developed by Welfare Island Development Corporation, a subsidiary of the NYS Urban Development Corporation. No family - still single and enjoying it. Work is exciting - lot of construction and development going on. Stop by when in NYC!"

TOM PRIESTLEY (BUP). "I'm a grad student at Berkeley now, working on a degree in environmental planning."

JAMES E. URBONAS (MUP). "Since moving to Colorado I have found continuing reinforcement for my decision - type of job, projects, environment, life-style, etc. Currently I have been offered a partnership position in Carl A. Worthington and Associates, a growing young firm engaged in planning, architecture, landscape, interiors, graphic and industrial design. Our work ranges from portable displays to new communities."

GIL WAGNER (BUP). "I am working as a District Planner for the Baltimore City Plan Department. This job involves working with community organization. I provide technical assistance to their development proposals and also interpret the city's comprehensive plan. The job makes use of a host of planning skills - many I will admit were obtained from my studies at the University of Illinois."

DAVID E. CARLEY (MUP). "Currently working in Mayors Office on program development and analysis for combined model cities/planned variation program. Wife, Judy, works for Foundation for Cooperative Housing. Major side interest is a farm in southern Indiana we are making into a wildlife refuge."

MICHAEL G. EDWARDS (BUP). "Graduate student, the Transportation Center, Northwestern University. Working on MS in Urban Transportation Planning. Sorry I missed you last year, but I had been drafted and stationed in Seattle, Washington."

JOE ENTRESS (BUP). "Presently working as the Planner for Vandalia, Ohio, a city of 11,000 which is, surprisingly enough, interested in formulating a growth policy. Like any small city there is provincialism to contend with but this is more than made up for by the access one has to election and appointed officials and their genuine good will and desire to find the best future for their city. A refreshing change from sophisticated and self-seeking community leaders and the associated larger planning agencies. With their combination of office politics and endless introspection. Also serving on the citizen participation component of a local new community which is running the gauntlet of the developer's greed, the central city's inertia, the suburbs' inane snobishness, and our self-righteous commentary. It's enjoyable. In case anyone wants to know where I'm at, read Carlos Castenao's latest book and know that I consult that fellow to my left pretty often."

DAVID FRESKO (MUP). "I have come to Israel in May, 1972, and have recently been working with the agency (Israel Institute of Transportation Planning and Research). The Institute is an independent research agency. It is presently involved in a nation wide travel habits survey project."

LARRY HOMUTH (BUP). "Married 1/30/71 (Gail). Worked 1 1/2 years as planner/administrator for Village of West Dundee, Illinois. Since 1/3/72 have worked as Senior City Planner for City of Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin."

CURTIS R. JENSEN (BUP). "I am now the Administrative Assistant to the Democratic Leadership of the House of Representatives. We have a full-time staff of about 20 people who do research on legislation in all areas. My wife, Pat, is a Medical Illustrator at Memorial Hospital here in Springfield."

RAFFAELLA NANETTI-LEONARDI (MUP). "I got married on June 10, 1972, to Mr. Robert Leonardi. We live in Ann Arbor where I am finishing up course work and prelims for a Ph.D. in Urban and Regional Planning at the University of Michigan. My husband will get his Ph.D. in Political Science this coming June: this is why our address is still a temporary one. I would be glad to send information about the Urban and Regional Planning Doctoral Program here at Michigan to anyone interested."

MERVYN K. MILLER (MUP). "Office Address: County Planning Department, County Hall, Hertfordshire, England. Job: Architect-Planner responsible for the county conservation program. Firstly, congratulations on the production of the Alumni Newsletter - I hope you can maintain the impetus necessary for its annual production. Secondly, to fill in all that has happened since I left the U. of I. After taking the long way home -- which included being detained for questioning in Moscow for photographing Corbusier's Centrosoyus Building -- I spent two years recounting my U.S. planning experience to English students. Last July (1972) I joined Hertfordshire County Council and I am now attempting to conserve the traditional rural environment to the north of London for visiting American planners. Seriously, though, we have a wide range of planning activities ranging from the implementation of the 1970 S.E. Regional Plan to the production of local plans using the British version of public participation. We have in the county the whole range of new towns from Letchworth (1904), Welwin Garden City (1920) to Hatfield, Hemel Hempstead and Stevenage (post World War II), and here have been quite successful in terms of the human and physical environment. Since returning to England I have enjoyed meeting Joy and Bill Mee, John and Tricia Pickard, Charley McCaffrey and Alan Lillyquist and look forward to meeting any other old classmates who pass through England."

1971:

WILBERT ALLEN (MUP). "I recently got a job promotion to architect/urban designer with the accompanying job responsibility and pay increase. My wife and I are expecting a child in August of 1973."

ROBERT L. BECKETT, JR. (MUP). "Daughter born 12/6/72 - Jean Marie; am working toward Ph.D. in Geography - University of Maryland; lecturer (Geography and Geology) - Montgomery College."

JOHN CARPENTER (BUP). "Still working at Logan County Regional Planning Commission."

JOHN DIMIT (BUP). "Associate Planner with Champaign County Regional Planning Commission. I am presently developing the County's Housing Plan and Program."

JAY H. FELDMAN (BUP). "I've been working with Decatur for a year and a half, doing studies relevant to the comprehensive planning process."

ROBERT FLATLEY (MUP). "Doctoral studies are completed in June. In August I begin work in Washington, D.C. with Ralph Nader. I am still a Catholic Priest, working on weekends whenever possible. Special greetings to classmates of '71!"

SIDNEY M. FUKU (MUP). "Appointed Deputy Director of Planning for the County of Hawaii, December 4, 1972. Appointment is for four years."

NOSHY GHAREB (MUP). "This is my second year here in Saudi Arabia working as a visiting lecturer at the Department of Architecture. My wife and two daughters are with me. We will be very happy to welcome anyone to visit this Holy Land."

ROBERT T. GOBLE (MUP). "Now working as Principal Planner with Dallas Department of Planning and Urban Development - formerly Senior Planner."

CHARLES L. HARWOOD (BUP, MUP, MPA). "The past eighteen months have been turbulent and trying primarily because this community is growing rapidly and the planning commission is anti-planning. An election nine months ago produced a strong pro-planning majority on the City Commission. A completely new planning commission has now been formed. I am sure Karen and I will enjoy our life here even more."

GUNNAR HERMANSSON (MUP). "I am working with a private architecture firm in Stockholm (Arkitekthuset Gotgatan 18 AB). Unemployment rate among consulting architects approximately 20% and no improvements in sight. Planning jobs in the administration are more secure but extremely rare. Stockholm is waiting for Winter. Sweden exported 27,000 tons of oil for the USA yesterday because we didn't need it. Good Luck!!"

PAUL B. KELMAN (MUP).. "As a Principal Planner for metropolitan Dade County Planning Department, I have had several interesting assignments this year: Project Director for Dade County's water quality management plan, developing a bikeways plan and tree ordinance, analyzing environmental criteria for our comprehensive plan update, and most importantly, getting the Dolphins home 17-0."

ANDREW JAY MOORE (BUP). "I'm still living-working-planning with the growing C-U alternative community. Also, maintaining contact with alma mater, Parkland, and local adult education programs. Also caring for/working with Stokely (5), Saul (4), Carla (4), and Nanny (3), and working as a research assistant (in Agronomy) on a part-time basis. In other words, combining what Paul Goodman called 'decent poverty' with what Helen and Scott Nearing term 'living the good life.' My own version, of course, if anyone out there wants to visit the dome, farms, shops, or stores, or would like a copy of the latest community directory, let me know."

EDWARD PIGO (MUP).

STUART RELLER (MUP). "Present position is as Assistant Director and Senior Planner in Planning Department in Bloomington, Indiana."

R. MICHAEL ROBLING (MUP). "I am now a Senior Planner working on housing and a community development strategy."

DAVID B. ROTTMAN (BUP). "Research Assistant, Center for Advanced Computation, University of Illinois."

FRED SCHEIN (BUP). "Greetings to all my fellow voyagers. Those of you who chose to reveal your addresses never be surprised by my omnipresent knocking at your door. Reverently, I am everlastingly thankful to the olympians who have gifted me with a new Grateful Dead album. After witnessing three union men succumb, four mothers weep, and my Democratic precinct captain kiss a baby on the jugular vein for votes - I have fled the rugged frontier of Chicago. Presently, I am a graduate student in urban planning (if this surprises you, pause for a moment and consider the impact on my mind of this most grievous experience). Anyways, I have been dazzling all of these beer guzzling Badgers with my incredible Illini prowess (in the classroom). Currently I, am engaged in research concerning the transition of the military industrial complex into the social industrial complex, a Jamaican village whose circulation and moral structures revolve around the teachings of GANJA, and the use of a multi-dimensional scaling model to determine the role of snow in the communication pattern of upper Andes cultures. All in all the profane illusion is diminishing as the sacred truth emerges and my life goes on."

CAROL SZERSZEN (BUP). "Am currently enrolled at the University as an irregular student in economics."

MICHAEL TURNER (MUP). "Appointed by the Builder's Association of Metropolitan Detroit, as their representative for the Governor's Land Use Study Commission hearings. Was married on August 28, 1972, to Marilyn Stevenson."

LATE NEWS

SCOTT WILSON (MUP, 1970). Chief, Transportation Planning has been named assistant director effective March 1, 1973, replacing Arthur Fischer who resigned. Wilson first joined the TBRPC staff in March, 1968, and returned in June, 1970, after taking a one year leave of absence to obtain a Masters Degree in Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Illinois. Prior to becoming the Council's chief transportation planner, Wilson was the chief regional planner for one year.

The region consists of 13 counties in the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Upper Piedmont. Twelve of the counties are in Appalachia, and much of the region is either undeveloped or contains only rural development. Consequently, we have an opportunity to plan on a truly regional basis. Our main objective is to encourage the kind of economic development which will not destroy the natural beauty of the region. Tourism is one of our main thrusts, so come on down for your vacation. You can hike along the Appalachian Trail, camp out, stay in a cabin in the woods, or stop at a posh resort lodge. There are clean streams and mountain lakes for swimming, fishing, or canoeing. And, the scenery is great -- mountain peaks, stream valleys, water falls, and gorges."

SULLY, JOHN ARTHUR (MUP). 17 Main Street, Kingston, New Jersey 08528. "For the duration of 1973, I'll continue to be Project Manager for the Middlesex County Solid Waste Management Study (a full-time job). This is a type of environmental planning I hadn't heard of! But interesting nonetheless."

TINSWORTH, ALLAN (MUP). 3549 F. Clubhouse Circle East, Decatur, Georgia 30032. Regional Planner, Department of Community Development, Office of Regional Planning, State of Georgia."

WELL, CHARLES DONALD (MUP). 111 South Barton, Little Rock, Arkansas 72205. Greetings from down under! Although the phrase is overworked, Arkansas is an area of great contrasts. Poverty and affluence are literally side by side. The natural environment is lush and beautiful but the words ecology and conservation are completely foreign; open space is vanishing at a much more rapid pace than in most northern states. I am working on the Arkansas Plan for Local and State Corrections and have spent the last month (December) developing legislation on jail standards, regional correctional facilities, and diversion of the alcoholic (representing up to 70 percent of local jail population) from criminal to civil control and from an emphasis on detention to one of treatment. Barbara landed a great job as private secretary to the Administrator of Accounting for the State. She has a beautiful office in the State Capitol and enjoys working 'where the action is.'
