Fall 2021 Lecture Series

Every semester the School of Architecture at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign brings together a great lineup of architecture educators and practitioners. They present inspiring designs, cutting-edge technologies, innovative pedagogies, and inspiring narratives that help push the architecture discipline and practice forward. In addition, their presentations generate great conversations, augmenting the discourse amongst our students, faculty, staff, and guests.

This class is a one-credit hour course assess on your attendance to the lectures in Spring 2022. If you are already attending the lectures in person, get credit for them. You can take this course if you need a one-credit course to be full-time or fulfill your credits. There will be no significant assignments nor final exams; your documentation of your attendance for the entire duration of the lecture is all that is needed.
